Executive Summary

Brandon Carter outlines his complete ideal day — from a 5 a.m. wake-up through deep work, a full-body workout, medium and easy work blocks, content creation, two 40-minute walks, and lights out by 10 p.m.

Contents

-  Wake Up & Morning Routine
-  3 Hours of Deep Work
-  90-Minute Full Body Workout
-  3 Hours of Medium Work
-  First 40-Minute Walk
-  2 Hours of Easy / Administrative Work
-  2 Hours of Content Creation
-  Evening Walk, Dinner & Sleep

Wake Up & Morning Routine 0:00

- Wake up at 5:00 a.m. — no snooze button
 - "The snooze button is for people who choose to be poor."
- Morning routine is capped at 15 minutes max
 - Goal is to avoid wasting time on "a bunch of BS"
 - Get to work as soon as possible after waking

3 Hours of Deep Work 0:00

- First major block of the day: 3 hours of deep, cognitively demanding work
- Eliminate phone distractions entirely
 - Brandon's method: put the phone in the bathroom so it's physically out of reach

90-Minute Full Body Workout 0:23

- 90-minute full body workout follows the deep work block
- Option to split into three 30-minute sessions spread throughout the day

- Brandon can do this easily because he has a gym in his condo (just go downstairs)
- His recommendation for most people: do it all at once since commuting to a gym makes splitting impractical

3 Hours of Medium Work 0:23

- 3 hours of medium work — less cognitively demanding than the deep work block
 - Includes: calls, emails, meetings
 - Reserve this block for tasks that don't require peak mental focus

First 40-Minute Walk 0:23

- 40-minute walk targeting roughly 4,000 steps
- Multitask during the walk to stay productive
 - Take calls while walking
 - Respond to people in Slack and email

2 Hours of Easy / Administrative Work 0:45

- 2 hours of easy work — administrative and low-effort tasks
- Change of environment is a "cheat code" for this block
 - Examples: go to a coffee shop, or simply move to another room at home
 - A new setting helps maintain focus for routine tasks

2 Hours of Content Creation 0:45

- 2 hours dedicated to content
 - For Brandon this means making YouTube videos and Reels
 - Applicable to whatever content format fits your business or brand

Evening Walk, Dinner & Sleep 0:45

- After dinner: another 40-minute walk for an additional 4,000 steps
 - Total daily step goal across both walks: ~8,000 steps
 - Use this walk to bond with family — walk with kids, dog, or partner
 - Flexibility on timing: before or after dinner, whatever fits your schedule
- Get dinner in — treated as a non-negotiable part of the day
- Asleep by 10:00 p.m. to be ready to wake at 5 a.m. and repeat

"Do this for 7 days and watch how your life improves."
