5 S-Tier Habits for Guys Who Take Their Goals Seriously

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Oct 15, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/sBjBvMAeRK0 Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

Brandon Carter outlines five discipline-focused habits — from phone placement to weekly self-audits — designed to eliminate friction, maximize productive output, and treat your life like a Fortune 500 business.

📑 Contents

- 📵 Habit 1: Phone on the Other Side of the Room
- 💰 Habit 2: Work on Money-Making Tasks Within 5 Minutes of Waking
- 🍽️ Habit 3: Eat the Same Meals Every Day
- 📊 Habit 4: Track Your Numbers Every Day
- 🗓️ Habit 5: Audit Yourself Every Sunday

📵 Habit 1: Phone on the Other Side of the Room 0:00

- Place your phone across the room before going to sleep — not on your nightstand
  - Forces you to physically get out of bed to turn off your alarm
    - The act of standing up and moving makes it significantly less likely you'll crawl back into bed and hit snooze
  - Simple environmental design: remove the option to be lazy without conscious effort

💰 Habit 2: Work on Money-Making Tasks Within 5 Minutes of Waking 0:07

- Within 5 minutes of waking up, you should already be working
  - The first hour of every day must be spent on something that will make you money — uninterrupted
  - This is NOT:
    - Checking emails
    - Reading Slack messages
  - This IS work that will "actually move the needle" — deep, revenue-generating tasks
- The logic: your first hour sets the tone; protecting it from reactive communication preserves your highest-energy window for real output

🍽️ Habit 3: Eat the Same Meals Every Day 0:21

- Eat the same breakfast, same lunch, and same dinner consistently
  - Eliminates decision fatigue around food choices
  - Observation from Carter: "The fittest people I know typically eat the same things all the time"
    - Consistency in diet removes variables that lead to poor impulsive food decisions

📊 Habit 4: Track Your Numbers Every Day 0:32

- Track a comprehensive set of metrics daily across health and business:
  - Body weight
  - Revenue
  - Number of leads your business is generating
  - Number of sales calls being made
  - Number of new customers acquired
  - Total money spent — and exactly what it was spent on, categorized
- The overarching philosophy: "Treat your whole life like a Fortune 500 business"
  - What gets measured gets managed; daily tracking surfaces problems and opportunities that would otherwise go unnoticed

🗓️ Habit 5: Audit Yourself Every Sunday 0:45

- Every Sunday, perform a structured self-review of the past week
  - Rate your week from 1 to 10
  - Ask yourself the following questions:
    - Did you do what you said you were going to do?
    - Did you accomplish what you said you were going to accomplish?
    - How much money did you make?
    - What did you waste your time on?
  - Then take action on what you find:
    - Figure out how you can hit your numbers more effectively next week
    - Identify and cut the waste
- Repeat this process for 52 weeks in a row

> The core idea: run your life with the same rigor and accountability a top-tier business uses — track everything, review weekly, and compound the improvements over an entire year.