

10 / 10 PEAK MALE HABITS

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Sep 29, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/36VPv9ICEWQ> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

Brandon Carter outlines 10 escalating daily habits — from 5 AM workouts and cold showers to deep work and weekly parent calls — designed to build discipline, health, wealth, and purpose in men.

Contents

- 🏃 Habit 1: Work Out Before the World Wakes Up
- 📖 Habit 2: Read at Least 90 Minutes Daily
- ☀️ Habit 3: Get Sunlight Within 30 Minutes of Waking
- 📵 Habit 4: No Phone for the First Hour
- 🚿 Habit 5: Cold Shower Every Morning
- 💰 Habit 6: Track Every Dollar You Spend
- 🧠 Habit 7: One Hour of Deep Work Before Responding to Anyone
- 🚶 Habit 8: At Least 10,000 Steps Daily
- 🌙 Habit 9: In Bed by 10 PM
- ☎️ Habit 10: Call Your Parents Every Week

Habit 1: Work Out Before the World Wakes Up 0:00

- Start your day at 5 AM and train before the rest of the world is awake
 - Framing this as a competitive edge — you are already ahead of everyone before the day officially begins

Habit 2: Read at Least 90 Minutes Daily 0:00

- Read for a minimum of 90 minutes every single day
 - The claim: doing this consistently for one year can make you an expert in virtually any field
 - Positions reading as one of the highest-ROI uses of daily time

Habit 3: Get Sunlight Within 30 Minutes of Waking 0:00

- Step outside and expose yourself to natural sunlight within 30 minutes of waking up
 - Mechanism: sunlight signals the body to wake up and calibrates the circadian rhythm
 - Downstream effect: because the body receives a strong morning wake signal, it naturally becomes tired at night — making falling asleep easier

- Practical dual benefit: improves both morning energy and sleep quality

Habit 4: No Phone for the First Hour 0:21

- Do not touch your phone during the first hour of your morning
 - Reasoning: mornings should be reserved entirely for achievement and output
 - Warning: starting the day with aimless scrolling is described as "demoralizing" and sets the wrong mental tone
 - Reframe: protect your morning attention as your most valuable resource

Habit 5: Cold Shower Every Morning 0:21

- Take a cold shower every single morning without exception
 - Studies cited show that people who take cold showers get sick significantly less often
 - Personal anecdote: Brandon Carter states he has not been sick in 11 years, attributing it in part to this habit

"It's hard to keep working when you're sniffing like a weakling."

- Framed as both a health practice and a toughness/identity signal

Habit 6: Track Every Dollar You Spend 0:43

- Log and categorize every single dollar you spend so you know exactly where your money goes
 - The mindset shift: treat every dollar as a bullet you will fire in your war against poverty
 - Implies that untracked spending is financial self-sabotage
 - Actionable step: categorize expenses — not just track them — to identify patterns and leaks

Habit 7: One Hour of Deep Work Before Responding to Anyone 0:43

- Complete at least one hour of deep, focused work every morning before replying to any messages or emails
 - Reasoning: finish your most important work before other people start offloading their problems onto you
 - Sequence matters — protect your peak cognitive hours for your own priorities, not others' demands

Habit 8: At Least 10,000 Steps Daily 1:06

- Hit a minimum of 10,000 steps per day
 - Brandon's personal target is 20,000 steps daily, which he says he achieves on almost every day
 - Positions daily walking as non-negotiable baseline movement, separate from formal workouts

Habit 9: In Bed by 10 PM 1:06

- Be in bed and asleep by 10 PM
 - Direct payoff: going to bed this early is what makes waking up at 5 AM possible without feeling exhausted all day
 - Sharp warning: "If you're tired, you've basically already retired."
 - Being drowsy and sluggish is called out as foolish and unacceptable for a high-performing man

Habit 10: Call Your Parents Every Week 1:06

- Make a point to call your parents at least once a week
 - The closing philosophy: success means nothing if you forget where you came from
 - Adds a human/relational dimension to a list otherwise focused on discipline and performance — positioned as the habit that gives all the others meaning