

Can you eat fruit and still get ripped? 🍉🤔

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Jul 20, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/37NmafiLjvg> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

---

Getting shredded is about hitting the right calories and macros — not whether food is solid or liquid. Fruit, shakes, and blended meals all work as long as the numbers line up.

Can You Get Shredded on Liquid Calories? 0:00

- Brandon references Greg Plitt, a well-known bodybuilder/YouTuber, as a real-world example
  - Plitt's diet consisted mostly of shakes — he blended vegetables and fruits
  - He was getting essentially all his micro and macronutrients from drinks
  - He ate maybe one real solid meal per day
  - Despite this, he was described as "super shredded"
- The takeaway: food form (liquid vs. solid) is irrelevant to body composition results
  - "By the time it gets to your stomach, it's going to be all liquid anyway"

The Only Rule That Actually Matters 0:23

- You can eat whatever you want — fruit, shakes, whole foods — as long as you hit the right calories and macros for your goal
- "Getting shredded is really just about calories and macros. Your body doesn't care if it's liquid or solid."
- The critical caveat: you must know your numbers
  - "You can't be out here flying blind"

The Ripped Road Map Tool 0:46

---

- Brandon offers a free tool called the Ripped Road Map
- How it works:
  - Enter your height, weight, and goal
  - Upload a photo of yourself

- An AI analyzes the photo and returns:
  - Your exact body fat percentage
  - How much total body fat you are currently holding
  - The specific calorie and macro targets needed to reach your goal
- How to get it: comment the word "road map" on the video and it will be sent for free
