Why I Got Fired From Prada

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Oct 30, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/aobdJgr2JEM Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

Brandon Carter recounts getting fired from a Prada store security guard job after refusing to chase a shoplifter — reasoning he had no insurance and didn't want to damage his only (tailored) suit.

📑 Contents

- 🛡️ The Security Guard Job
- 🏃 The Shoplifting Incident
- 👔 The Suit Problem
- ✅ The Firing

🛡️ The Security Guard Job 0:00

- Brandon worked as a security guard at a Prada store
  - By his own admission, he was not effective in the role: "I didn't guard anything and I didn't keep anyone secure"
- Prada provided and tailored a suit specifically for him as part of the job

🏃 The Shoplifting Incident 0:00

- Someone ran out of the store with stolen merchandise
- Brandon made a conscious, in-the-moment decision not to intervene or give chase
  - His reasoning: he had no insurance, so risking physical harm wasn't worth it
  - His view on the merchandise: the Prada purse was insured; his body was not

> "That purse is insured. I'm not fighting — risking my life over this."

👔 The Suit Problem 0:00

- A secondary concern reinforced his decision not to chase the shoplifter
  - Prada had tailored a suit to him, and it was his only suit
  - He did not want to damage or ruin it in a physical altercation
  - His internal thought: "I'm going to f up my suit too — it's my only suit"

✅ The Firing 0:21

- Prada ultimately fired him, and Brandon acknowledges it was the right call
  - His own words: "It was a good decision on their part"
  - The interviewer/co-host agrees, noting it "makes sense — fair enough"
- Brandon reflects on it with humor rather than regret, framing it as a mutually understood outcome