

Yea he's not getting his money back

Channel: Tim Luong · Published: Aug 24, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/YIDVZyjkWUc> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

A brief comedy skit where Jay offers to cover lunch, only for his friend to immediately ditch him the moment they find out the restaurant is cash only.

Contents

-  The Skit

The Skit 0:00

- The setup: someone alerts the group that there's a problem — the restaurant is cash only
 - A friend responds that he has Venmo, implying he has no cash
- Jay is then thanked warmly for lunch — "Hey Jay, thank you for lunch, buddy. Thank you for lunch."
 - The implication is that Jay is now being voluntarily nominated to pay since he presumably has cash
- The friend who only has Venmo immediately declares "I'm out of here" and leaves
 - He escapes the situation entirely, leaving Jay stuck with the bill

The joke: the fastest way to get out of paying for lunch is to claim you only have Venmo the moment cash-only is announced.