Habit 1: Track Calories and Macros Daily 0:00

- Log every calorie and macro you consume every single day
 - The alternative — "putting anything in your mouth" — is framed as the default failure mode most people live in
 - Awareness of intake is the foundational step before any physical transformation

Habit 2: Walk 15,000–20,000 Steps Per Day 0:00

- Target 15,000 to 20,000 steps of walking daily
 - Claimed outcome: "you'll get super ripped"
 - Low-intensity steady-state movement compounds over time without the recovery cost of intense exercise

Habit 3: Track and Categorize Every Dollar 0:00

- Log and categorize every dollar spent
 - Treat personal finances exactly like a real business would

- Categorization reveals spending patterns and forces accountability at the same level a business owner would apply to a P&L

Habit 4: Plan Every Hour in Your Calendar 0:24

- Schedule every single hour of every day inside a calendar
 - Claimed outcome: "your productivity will skyrocket"
 - Hourly planning removes ambiguity about what to do next and prevents time from being absorbed by low-value activities

Habit 5: Meditate Twice a Day 0:24

- Two separate 20-minute meditation sessions per day
 - Session 1: morning
 - Session 2: early afternoon
 - Total daily meditation time: 40 minutes

Habit 6: Learn How to Sell 0:24

- Develop sales skills as a core life competency
 - Direct quote: "If you know how to sell, you'll never go broke."
 - Framed as financial insurance — a skill that can generate income regardless of circumstances

Habit 7: Split Your Workout Into Shorter Sessions 0:47

- Instead of one 60-minute workout, break it into smaller blocks
 - Option A: two 30-minute sessions
 - Option B (preferred): three 20-minute sessions
 - Rationale: "you can go way harder for a shorter amount of time than you can for a full hour"
 - Intensity per session is higher when duration is compressed, leading to better overall stimulus

Habit 8: Drink 1–2 Gallons of Water Per Day 0:47

- Consume 1 to 2 gallons of water daily; Brandon personally drinks 2 gallons
 - Claimed benefits:
 - Skin clears up
 - Significantly more energy due to improved hydration levels

Habit 9: Reframe Goals Around Effort, Not Tasks 0:47

- Change the planning question when setting goals

- ❌ Old question: "What do I have to do to accomplish this goal?"
- ✅ New question: "How much effort do I have to put in to make failure impossible?"
- This reframe shifts focus from a checklist mentality to an effort-intensity mentality, raising the ceiling of commitment

Habit 10: Use AI to Do, Not to Think 1:11

- Leverage AI as an execution tool, never as a replacement for original thinking
 - Core principle: "Your creativity is a muscle, and if you don't use it, it's going to get weak and then you'll lose it."
 - Brandon's personal AI use cases:
 - Editing all his videos
 - Creating carousels
 - Reaching out to customers
 - Helping manage his communities
 - Running all of his businesses
 - The boundary: AI handles operational/repetitive tasks; the human retains creative and strategic thinking
