Habit 1: Track Calories and Macros Every Day 0:00

- Log every calorie and macro daily rather than eating mindlessly
 - The contrast drawn is between intentional tracking vs. "just putting anything in your mouth"
 - Treats nutrition like data, not guesswork

Habit 2: Walk 15,000–20,000 Steps Per Day 0:07

- Aim for 15,000 to 20,000 steps every single day
 - Claimed outcome: "you'll get super ripped"
 - Positions walking as a non-negotiable, high-volume low-intensity activity layered on top of workouts

Habit 3: Track and Categorize Every Dollar 0:10

- Track and categorize every dollar you spend
 - Treat personal finances exactly like running a real business
 - Implies most people are as careless with money as they are with food

Habit 4: Plan Every Hour of Every Day 0:23

- Schedule every single hour in your calendar
 - Claimed outcome: "your productivity will skyrocket"
 - Moves beyond to-do lists into time-blocking every waking hour

Habit 5: Meditate Twice a Day 0:28

- Two separate 20-minute meditation sessions per day
 - Session 1: morning
 - Session 2: early afternoon
 - Splitting sessions rather than one longer block is the specific recommendation

Habit 6: Learn How to Sell 0:34

- Develop sales skills as a core life skill

"If you know how to sell, you'll never go broke."

- Positioned as financial insurance regardless of career or business type

Habit 7: Split Your Workout Into Shorter Sessions 0:38

- Instead of one 60-minute workout, break it up:
 - Option A: two 30-minute sessions
 - Option B (preferred): three 20-minute sessions
- The rationale: "you can go way harder for a shorter amount of time than you can for a full hour"
 - Shorter sessions allow higher intensity per session, leading to better overall output

Habit 8: Drink One to Two Gallons of Water Per Day 0:50

- Target: 1–2 gallons of water daily (Brandon personally drinks two)
- Claimed benefits:
 - Skin clears up
 - Significantly more energy due to better hydration

Habit 9: Reframe Your Goal-Setting Mindset 0:59

- Shift the question you ask when planning goals:
 - ✗ Old question: "What do I have to do to accomplish this goal?"
 - ✓ New question: "How much effort do I have to put in to make failure impossible?"

- The reframe forces a much higher commitment threshold and eliminates half-measures

Habit 10: Use AI to Do, Not to Think 1:10

- Use AI as an execution tool, not a thinking replacement
 - Key distinction: AI should do things for you, not think for you
 - "Your creativity is a muscle and if you don't use it, it's going to get weak and then you'll lose it"
- Brandon's personal AI use cases:
 - Editing all his videos
 - Creating carousels
 - Reaching out to customers
 - Helping manage his communities
 - Running all of his businesses
- The warning: outsourcing thinking to AI atrophies your own creative capacity
