The playbook to grow your business

Channel: Tim Luong · Published: Oct 23, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/ygCz7DsXEZI Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

A coach advises a business owner earning $200K/month on scaling to $500–600K/month by investing more in paid ads, hiring better sales talent, and identifying why top-performing ads and salespeople succeed.

📑 Contents

- 💰 Current Situation & Revenue Ceiling
- 📣 Scaling Through Paid Ads
- 🧑‍💼 Optimizing the Sales Team
- 🔍 Reverse-Engineering What Works

💰 Current Situation & Revenue Ceiling 0:00

- The business owner is currently generating $200K/month
  - Revenue is driven primarily by paid advertising
  - The coach acknowledges this as a solid base but identifies clear room to scale

📣 Scaling Through Paid Ads 0:00

- The first lever for doubling or tripling revenue is increasing ad spend and ad volume
  - The coach estimates the $200K ceiling can be pushed to $500K–$600K/month through ads and sales alone
  - This means producing and testing more creative ad formats and spending more on what already works
- The business model is heavily reliant on paid ads, which the owner confirms is their primary acquisition channel

🧑‍💼 Optimizing the Sales Team 0:22

- The owner currently has approximately 4 sales reps
- The coach's observation: in most teams of this size, only 1 or 2 reps are responsible for the majority of results
  - This is framed as a predictable pattern, not unique to this business
- Action step: hire more salespeople who resemble the top 1–2 performers

    - The goal is to identify what makes those top reps successful and replicate it through better hiring and systems
- Building better sales systems is cited alongside hiring as a key growth lever

🔍 Reverse-Engineering What Works 0:43

- The core strategic question the owner needs to answer: Why do my winning ads win?
    - Specifically: why do the top 10–20% of ads outperform the rest?
    - Once understood, the goal is to produce more of that type of creative at higher volume
- The same reverse-engineering logic applies to the sales team
    - Understand why top reps close more, then find and train more people who fit that profile

> The growth playbook at this stage is simple but precise: more of what already works — more ad creative, more ad spend, and more top-tier sales talent — guided by a clear understanding of why the best performers win.