This is what 6 months of dating coaching looks like

Channel: Deni Ops · Published: Oct 18, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mWeFSrptG8U Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

Deni Ops presents a testimonial case study of "Finn," an Irish engineer living in Sweden, who paid over $5,000 for 6 months of full-service dating coaching — covering app profiles, texting, date coaching, and weekly calls — and went from near-zero results to 3–5 dates per week with 1,200+ app likes.

📑 Contents

- 👤 Who Is Finn? Starting Point & Background
- 💬 Finn's Overall Experience in His Own Words
- 📸 Profile Transformation & App Results
- 🌍 Adapting Strategies for Sweden's Dating Culture
- 📅 Date Volume, Quality & Logistics
- 📞 Coaching Calls, Playbooks & Skill Development
- 💰 Investment, Pricing & Value Assessment
- 🤖 Service Structure, Time Zones & Future Tools
- 🗺️ Custom Swedish Playbook & Instagram Coaching
- ✅ Final Takeaways & Finn's Advice

👤 Who Is Finn? Starting Point & Background 0:00

- "Finn" is an alias used to protect the client's identity; his face is fully blurred in the video, only his voice is used
- He is Irish and was living in Sweden at the time of coaching
- Age: close to his 30s (exact age withheld)
- Occupation: engineer — a demanding job that took up most of his time
- Fitness: went to the gym five times a week; described as a "normal" lifestyle physique, not model-tier
- Dating history before coaching:
  - Had dated only four different girls total
  - Had slept with three of them
  - Couldn't maintain momentum or build toward a relationship
  - Was watching Deni Ops YouTube videos before signing up and attributed any early results to those free videos
- His Tinder and Hinge profiles were described as "awful" with poor-quality matches

- Decided to reach out after realizing self-directed effort wasn't producing sufficient results: "Look, f this. I need to contact you and properly sort this out."

💬 Finn's Overall Experience in His Own Words 44:00

- One-sentence summary of his experience: "Very busy"
- Went in not knowing what he was doing; by the end felt he had "no real issues with it anymore"
- Did not feel his age (near 30) would be a limiting factor, partly because of prior exposure to the coaches' YouTube content
- Advice to others worried about age (20s, 30s, or 40s): "Trust the process with you guys. I don't feel like age will limit anything."
- Biggest skill gains identified:
  - Texting — described as a "huge problem" that improved dramatically
  - Date execution — went from not knowing where he went wrong to finding the process "methodical" and "easy"
- Progression of reliance on the team:
  - Early stage: sent the coaches "everything," described it as a "bombardment"
  - Purpose was to absorb their mentality and how they approached different situations
  - Over time, leaned on them less as he internalized the approach
  - By the end: essentially self-sufficient; coaches confirmed he "barely sends texts in anymore"
- Goal from the outset was always to exit after 6 months fully capable, rather than outsource indefinitely

📸 Profile Transformation & App Results 274:00

- Before coaching: pictures described as "terrible"; matches were low volume and poor quality
- After profile overhaul by the coaching team:
  - Broke past 1,200 likes on apps, described by the coaches as a "pretty big achievement"
  - Surpassed 1,000 likes easily, in the space of roughly a few weeks to one month
  - "Hundreds" of matches on every app being used
- Finn's reaction: "If I had to complain about the process, it was that it was too fing good. I was actually burnt out for a while because there was so much going on."
- Platforms covered: Tinder, Hinge, and Instagram
- Photos were produced in large batches; new batches were continuously generated as accounts' feeds aged out
  - On Hinge specifically, Finn said he "barely had to ever change them" because the first set was so effective
  - Extra sets were prepared in advance so replacements were always ready
- Instagram content guidance was also provided (posts, how to pose, locations to use on trips — e.g., near Como)

🌍 Adapting Strategies for Sweden's Dating Culture 390:00

- The coaches acknowledged that Sweden's dating culture is more conservative than Western norms their strategies typically target
- Initial approach was somewhat general for roughly the first week
- The team then tested adjustments and fine-tuned the approach, after which results came quickly
- Finn was impressed by how adaptive the coaches were: "Not everywhere is the same, but yeah, it was very impressive."
- Max (the primary one-on-one coach) confirmed: "We realized very quickly what we had to do and then we locked into the new approach and it made things very easy."
- A custom Swedish playbook was created specifically for Finn (covered in more detail in a later section)
- The coaches noted they also work with clients in places like Poland and tailor conservative-culture texting strategies globally

📅 Date Volume, Quality & Logistics 797:00

- Typical week during coaching: 3–4 dates per week, sometimes 5
- Managed flake risk by always having a backup date ready — if one flaked in the morning, another was already lined up
- On some days, went on two dates in one day — had to rush from one to the next by taxi
- Quality of women improved over time, not just quantity; Finn noted: "As it went down [the process], the quality got better and the consistency remained."
- Feedback loop was built in: if Finn wasn't happy with a match quality, he flagged it and the team adjusted — "It wasn't just sending numbers for the sake of getting numbers up."
- On date spending: coaches emphasized low-cost dates — Finn confirmed he did not spend heavily (no dinners, no "wining and dining")
  - The framing set girls' expectations toward a casual, fun meet-up rather than a formal dinner date
  - Result: girls were comfortable coming back without needing 3–4 expensive dates first
- Finn confirmed he was going home with girls from the very first dates in the process: "From the very start with your process, I was going home with girls."
- The coaches noted the end goal included the ability to identify long-term partner traits too, not just casual dating

📞 Coaching Calls, Playbooks & Skill Development 459:00

- Coach "Max" handled the day-to-day one-on-one relationship with Finn
- Weekly coaching calls were a core component:
  - Early calls were longer (could exceed 30 minutes to an hour)
  - Later calls got shorter as Finn's competence grew; some questions could be handled over text

    - Calls were described as genuinely targeted: "It wasn't just a meeting to talk about feel-good productive stuff — it was genuinely targeted stuff to your problems."
- Playbooks were provided as written reference material:
    - General playbooks were given early on for Finn to absorb before dates
    - Covered date behavior, escalation, sex as a skill, and cultural approaches
    - Finn would re-read playbooks after a date went wrong to remind himself of the correct approach
- Post-date debriefs were a key learning mechanism:
    - Finn would "bounce" what happened off Max on a call
    - They'd analyze what worked, what didn't, and what should have been done differently
    - Example: certain last-moment actions sometimes prevented him from going home with a girl — these were identified and corrected
- A custom Swedish playbook was created specifically for Finn at the start of the process to account for local cultural dating norms
    - Described as going beyond the general playbook to fine-tune for his specific geographic and cultural context
    - Served as a reference Finn could return to after specific situations

💰 Investment, Pricing & Value Assessment 615:00

- Total cost over 6 months: well over $5,000
- Included: Instagram setup, Hinge setup, Tinder setup, one-on-one coaching, weekly calls, daily texting assistance, texting done on his behalf, playbooks
- Payment method: bank transfer (came with a 5% discount)
- Finn said he "never questioned" the price after watching a prior client interview before signing up
- His framing of the investment: "If there was ever money well spent, that was it. It's like a life skill — this s should be taught in schools."
- He said he never regretted or second-guessed the spending
- Did not feel it was a scam — had enough prior exposure to the coaches' content to trust the process before paying
- Coach's framing of the ROI: the service is a "fast pass" or "skip the queue pass" — you could figure it out alone, but it would take years
    - Finn estimated the coaching saved him "years" of trial and error
- Once the 6 months is complete, clients do not need to continue paying — the goal is full self-sufficiency

🤖 Service Structure, Time Zones & Future Tools 1001:00

- The team texted on Finn's behalf (handling inbound matches and conversations) as well as coaching him
- Time zone alignment was a significant advantage for Finn (Sweden vs. the coaches' location were closely aligned)

    - This allowed near-hourly texting coverage throughout Finn's waking hours
    - Acknowledged limitation: clients in Australia, for example, face a harder experience due to time zone gaps
- A chatbot is in development by Max to address the time zone coverage gap for international clients — described as "coming together soon"
- The team was responsive "pretty much any time of the day" — Finn said he never felt he lost out because of slow replies
- Only negative Finn could name: the process was "too effective" and sometimes generated more activity than he could keep up with personally

🗺️ Custom Swedish Playbook & Instagram Coaching 1044:00

- The general playbooks were useful but somewhat broad; the custom Swedish playbook added cultural specificity
- Helped Finn understand how to approach dating in Sweden where social norms differ from general Western dating
- Served a dual purpose: preparation before dates AND reference material to review after dates went wrong
- Instagram support went beyond just profile photos:
    - Guidance on what posts to make
    - Advice on how to pose for photos on trips
    - Recommendations on locations to visit and photograph (e.g., near Como)
    - Tips on best times of day for photos
    - Finn described it as: "Everything was basically laid out as a map. All you had to do is follow it."
- Picture batches were generated continuously; Hinge pictures were so effective Finn barely needed to change them, but replacement batches were always pre-prepared
- Instagram pictures were also usable for posts, giving Finn a complete social media presence

✅ Final Takeaways & Finn's Advice 1250:00

- Finn's one-word advice to anyone in his prior position: "Fing do it. You won't regret it."
- Coaches' summary of what made Finn an ideal client:
    - Trusted the process without pushback
    - Easy to work with
    - Followed through consistently
    - Did not give up
    - Results started rolling within approximately one week of getting set up
- Finn is described as an "average guy" — not model-tier, no six-pack, not 6'7" — used as evidence the system works regardless of looks
- Coaches' stated position: the system works for "pretty much anyone" as long as they are healthy

- By end of program, Finn is fully self-sufficient:
  - Can manage his own texting
  - Can identify quality long-term partners if desired
  - Owns his own pictures and content
  - Has no ongoing need for the service
- Coaches gave Finn additional freebies as a thank-you for participating in the testimonial
- Bank transfer payment method mentioned again as yielding a 5% discount for future clients

> "If there was ever money well spent, that was it. It's like a life skill — this s should be taught in schools." — Finn