When an Uber Driver Asks If I Work Out

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Nov 06, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/6tJyUBO1o-Y Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

Brandon Carter recounts a recurring, humorous exchange with curious Uber drivers who notice his physique — his punchline answer to arm-size questions: just train every day for 25 years.

📑 Contents

- 🚗 The Uber Driver Encounter
- 💪 The Secret to the Arms

🚗 The Uber Driver Encounter 0:00

- Uber drivers sometimes take a personal interest and ask if he works out
  - His typical deflecting reply: "Yeah, sometimes, you know"
  - He often flips it back with a question: "Do YOU work out? How often do you go to the gym?"
    - Then he responds to "the gym?" with exaggerated surprise — "The gym? The gym?" — as a running joke
- Men in particular tend to ask specifically about his arms
  - Common question: "How do you get arms like that?"

💪 The Secret to the Arms 0:24

- His straight answer: train every single day for 25 years
  - That is literally what he did
- Closes with an encouraging note: anyone who puts in that level of consistent long-term effort should be able to achieve similar results