What to do at 30k a month

Channel: Tim Luong · Published: Nov 07, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/Cq1ZIMFbPSM Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

At $30k/month, resist lifestyle inflation and reinvest profits into the business. Delegate admin, operations, and technical work — but never client-facing or growth tasks — to reach $100k/month.

📑 Contents

- 💰 What to Do at the $30k/Month Stage
- 🚫 What NOT to Delegate
- 🔧 What to Delegate
- 🎯 The End Goal

💰 What to Do at the $30k/Month Stage 0:00

- At $30k/month, you are likely generating a small profit
  - This is a critical inflection point where the wrong decision can stall growth
- Do NOT upgrade your lifestyle
  - No luxury cars
  - No raising your standard of living
- Instead, reinvest that profit back into the business
  - Expect new hires to cost more money
  - Expect higher marketing and advertising costs

🚫 What NOT to Delegate 0:00

- Never hand off tasks related to talking to clients
- Never hand off tasks related to growing the business
  - These are the highest-leverage activities at this stage and must stay with the founder

🔧 What to Delegate 0:22

- Find other people to handle everything else, specifically:
  - Administration
  - Operations

    - Technical work
- The goal is to free up founder time for sales and growth, not to reduce costs

🎯 The End Goal 0:22

- If you stay consistent with this approach long enough, the outcome is reaching $100k/month

> "If you keep at this long enough, you'll be able to reach $100k a month."

- The path is disciplined reinvestment + protecting your highest-value activities as a founder