

Your diet doesn't have to be difficult.

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Aug 07, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/fLQ8Snvd1VA> Source: description only

Executive Summary

Brandon Carter argues that diet failure stems from overcomplication, not laziness. A simple, enjoyable strategy beats restrictive suffering every time — and consistency is what actually produces results.

Contents

-  The Real Reason Most People Fail Their Diet
-  The "Dry Chicken and Broccoli" Myth
-  Simplicity Over Suffering
-  The Free Fat Loss Guide Offer

The Real Reason Most People Fail Their Diet

- Most people do not hit their fitness goals because they can't maintain consistency with eating
 - The cause is NOT laziness
 - The cause is NOT lack of desire or motivation
 - The root problem is overcomplication — making the diet harder than it needs to be

The "Dry Chicken and Broccoli" Myth

- A common misconception is that getting in shape requires:
 - Starving yourself
 - Eating only bland, joyless food (dry chicken and broccoli all day)
 - Being miserable throughout the process
- Brandon explicitly rejects this approach for himself and his clients

Simplicity Over Suffering

- You do not need a personal chef or elaborate meal plans
- What you do need is a simple strategy you can realistically stick to long-term
- The core principle: "Discipline matters, but simplicity sustains"
 - Willpower alone breaks down; a straightforward system keeps you consistent

The Free Fat Loss Guide Offer

- Brandon offers a step-by-step fat loss guide covering how to eat to burn fat without starving or suffering
- To receive it: comment the phrase "six-pack" on the video
 - He will DM the guide directly to anyone who comments