🙄 Takumi's Personal Background & Origin Story 0:280

- Grew up in Sydney; father is Japanese, moved to Australia to raise him alone while working full-time
- Family never had much money; from a young age Takumi wanted to change that and take care of his father
- Around 17 years old in a regular public school — not getting great grades, no clear direction
- At 18, worked two jobs simultaneously:
 - Bartending, finishing shifts at 6:00 a.m.
 - Early morning shifts at a Woolworths bakery starting at 8:00 a.m.
 - Some days worked back-to-back without sleeping — up to 50+ hours per week
- Tried multiple money-making methods and failed at all of them:
 - Lost almost $40,000 in crypto trading meme coins
 - Tried SMMA — didn't work
 - Tried forex trading — lost money
 - Tried Shopify without a mentor — lost a few thousand dollars with nothing to show
- Considered giving up many times — exhausted, broke, watching others accept normal lives
- Kept going because "the pain of staying exactly where I was... was far greater than the pain of trying just one more time"
- Discovered Etsy dropshipping through a close friend already making money with it; saw it worked after a few sales
- Invested in a mentor, learned the system properly
- In his fourth week made $7,445 in a single week — more than both jobs combined
- Told his father, who initially didn't believe him and wanted him to pursue university; kept showing results month after month until his father came around
- Subsequently moved from Sydney to Brisbane with business partners, then Dubai, then the south of France; has now visited over 20 countries
- Had a high-rise apartment on the Palm in Dubai; bought his first Rolex
- Built "Easy Etsy" to give others the shortcut he never had

💡 Why Etsy Dropshipping Works 0:165

- Etsy is the third largest e-commerce platform in the world with over 90 million active buyers, growing every year
- Unlike Shopify, no need to run paid ads — buyers are already on the platform searching for products
- No inventory to hold, no warehouse, no upfront stock costs

- Does not require technical expertise
- Described as the "least saturated, most beginner-friendly, and lowest cost to start" model currently available
- 80% of Etsy competition is characterised as middle-aged women selling handmade goods — far less competitive than Shopify, where sellers compete with large brands doing millions per year
- Compared to early-adopter opportunities: "It's like the gold rush of getting into Bitcoin in 2014 or Amazon FBA in 2017 when the opportunity was so high, but the awareness was still so low"
- Suits people regardless of background — uni students, shift workers, athletes, people in jobs they dislike
- Most clients start seeing results working only 5 to 10 hours per week around their existing schedule
- The platform does the "heavy lifting" — millions of buyers search daily; the seller just needs to list the right products the right way

How the Business Model Works 0:491

- Open an Etsy store
- List products sourced from a private supplier (provided by Easy Etsy)
 - No upfront costs
 - No warehouse or inventory risk
- When a customer buys from the store, the supplier ships directly to the customer
- The seller keeps the profit margin — classic dropshipping structure
- The program teaches everything in between:
 - How to find validated, winning products
 - How to set up the store to get organic traffic
 - How to price correctly
 - How to write listings that convert
 - How to scale horizontally across multiple stores once the first store is working

The Guarantee & Call to Action 0:630

- Core guarantee: Follow exactly what is taught; if you do not make $5,000 in a month within the first 90 days of the coaching program, you pay nothing
- Positioned as a money-back guarantee removing the financial risk of joining
- Takumi states the guarantee is possible because hundreds of students — mostly with zero prior experience — have already gone through the same process successfully
- Target audience framed as two groups:
 - Those already sick of their current situation (long hours, stagnant income, feeling time is running out)
 - Those who have tried online business before, lost money, and are skeptical anything works
- Call to action: fill in the form below the video and book a call with Takumi or his team
 - Call covers how the program works, a personalised approach to the viewer's situation, and answers to any questions
- Closing line: "The only thing that keeps people from starting is the fear that it actually won't work. Fill in the form, book a call, let's build this together."
