Executive Summary

ZssBecker urges young people aged 18-30 to recognize their unique advantage of freedom, low responsibilities, and high energy, and to fully commit to working hard and taking risks by living cheaply and going all in on their ambitions.

If your 18-30.

You don't understand the power you have.

No kids. No wife. Time to F up. Your parents are good. No responsibilities. No bills. High energy with no effort. Zero expectations.

You should be living in a cheap AF studio apartment, working 14 hour days and going ALL
