The Laptop Scratchpad 0:00

- The entire video consists of a single observation: a laptop scratchpad exists as a product
 - The creator immediately calls it "genius" — the sole commentary provided
- No further detail, explanation, pricing, brand, or demonstration is given in the transcript
 - The brevity of the short itself may be part of the point — simple product, simple pitch, viral result
- The product's virality (5.7M views) is noted in the title, suggesting the product/marketing concept resonated widely despite (or because of) minimal explanation
