One Day Inside My 8-Figure Business (Vlog)

Channel: Tim Luong · Published: Oct 13, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Biwv4BIl6cU Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

Tim Luong walks through a full 24-hour day running his $12M/year, 50+ employee Miami business, revealing five rules — from forced accountability at 5 AM to batching meetings to building systems that let the business run without him.

📑 Contents

- 🌅 Introduction & Context
- 💪 Rule 1: Never Let Yourself Make the Decision
- 🍽️ Rule 2: Prioritize Convenience Over Nice Things
- 🧠 Deep Work & High-Leverage Focus
- 📅 Rule 3: Stack All Meetings on Two Days
- 🏗️ Rule 4: Can the Business Survive 30 Days Without You?
- 🏢 The Business Portfolio
- 🎉 Rule 5: Deliberately Schedule a Social Life

🌅 Introduction & Context 0:00

- Tim Luong runs a $12 million/year business out of Miami with over 50 employees
- Normal wake-up time: 4:40 AM; nights can run until 5:00 AM
- The vlog covers one full 24-hour cycle — from early morning training through a Don Toiver concert
- Promises to break down the five rules that let him maintain this lifestyle while still growing the business

💪 Rule 1: Never Let Yourself Make the Decision 0:47

- Tim was never a morning person growing up and struggled to wake up early for a long time
- The core insight: remove the decision entirely by making the consequence of not getting up immediate and social
  - Current setup: personal trainer shows up at his house at 5:30 AM sharp
    - If Tim doesn't get up, the trainer is in the garage yelling at him — no way to ignore it
  - Pre-money version: found a college friend who was naturally good at waking up early
    - Told the friend: