

Being Rich makes you Worse with Women lol (how to fix it)

Channel: Deni Ops · Published: Sep 06, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BliZml4SuG0> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

Successful, business-focused men who enter "monk mode" lose both social and physical dating skills. Deni diagnoses two core problems, shares humiliating personal stories, and presents five client transformations plus two paths to recovery.

Contents

-  The Two Core Problems Rich Men Face with Dating
-  Deni's Personal Regression Story
-  The Warning from Iman Gadzhi
-  The Two Solutions
-  Case Study 1: Shinidu – Real Estate Owner with No Social Skills
-  Case Study 2: Michael – 20-Year-Old Agency Owner
-  Case Study 3: Nick – 50-Year-Old Divorced Man
-  Case Study 4: Finley – Blunt Texter with Autism
-  Closing Pitch and Resources

The Two Core Problems Rich Men Face with Dating 0:45

- Problem 1: Loss of skill — "If you don't use it, you lose it"
 - Entering monk mode (working obsessively, avoiding dating) causes dating ability to atrophy just like any other skill
 - Applies to conversation, texting, physical escalation, and sexual technique
- Problem 2: Becoming hyper-logical
 - Running a business trains you to solve everything analytically
 - Women are emotional, not logical — applying business-brain thinking to dating actively backfires
 - Example: Deni told a friend he didn't want to drink because "that's a poor person's hobby" — completely out of touch with normal social dynamics

Deni's Personal Regression Story 92s

- Deni claims a body count of 500+ women from his younger years, describing himself as highly skilled at dating
- He then spent roughly a year in monk mode building Denny Ops and other businesses (car rentals, client services)
 - At peak, the team was taking 12+ sales/client calls per day and had to hire staff just to handle call volume
- After that period he tried to return to dating and found himself effectively starting over
- Embarrassing stories he shares openly:
 - Took a girl to a fancy restaurant → she ghosted him afterward (too formal, zero fun)
 - Had a girl in his bed, couldn't perform sexually, and also couldn't finger her correctly because he had forgotten — she ghosted him
 - These are described as direct consequences of skill loss, not confidence or looks
- What eventually changed:
 - Hired automation, chatbots, an editor, and team members (Max, Luke, others) so the business could run without him
 - Got new AI-generated photos redone
 - Slowly re-entered dating, ramped up, and now averages ~5 dates per week
 - Slept with roughly 30 girls in the last 3–6 months at time of filming
 - Max (a colleague) was the one going on dates and producing results during Deni's drought — viewers noticed and called it out in comments

The Warning from Iman Gadzhi 296s

- Deni cites a quote from YouTuber Iman Gadzhi that he describes as genuinely frightening:

"A man who makes a lot of money but puts women off for years at a time is no better than a guy that is unable to get women in the first place."

- The reason: women will simply use a wealthy but socially unskilled man for his money
 - Having the car, the looks (AI photos), the money — but lacking dating skill — means women extract resources and leave
 - You become, in Deni's words, "an embarrassing prick" regardless of your financial success
- This framing is meant to shock business-focused men into treating dating as a skill that requires maintenance

The Two Solutions 364s

- Path A: The hard way — go on hundreds of dates repeatedly to rebuild skill through raw experience
 - This is what Deni did personally over the last several months
 - Takes significant time and involves many uncomfortable failures

- Path B: Get professional help / consume educational content
 - Watch videos (Deni's channel or others)
 - Hire a professional (Deni's service, Denny Ops)
 - Benefit: you sidestep the trial-and-error phase and have someone telling you exactly what to do
 - Particularly relevant for busy professionals who can't afford months of failed dates
- Both paths require seasons where you actively prioritize dating, not just business

Case Study 1: Shinidu – Real Estate Owner with No Social Skills 456s

- Background: Real estate agency owner, ~32,000 Instagram followers, making more money than Deni
 - Lost dating skill completely; business calendar full, dating calendar empty
 - Profile photos were all money-flexing shots — no genuine personality or lifestyle conveyed
 - Likes and matches were suffering badly as a result
- What Denny Ops did:
 - Created AI pictures
 - Rewrote bio and prompts
 - Set up the full profile correctly
- Result: 99+ likes immediately after the profile went live

Case Study 2: Michael – 20-Year-Old Agency Owner 502s

- Background: Young agency owner, no time to text girls on Tinder, poor quality photos
- Customized solution because of his schedule:
 - Denny Ops managed Tinder texting entirely on his behalf
 - Michael handled WhatsApp texting himself once dates were set (his preference)
- What was built:
 - Fresh batch of AI pictures
 - Profile aimed at longer-term relationship-minded girls
 - Full texting account management
- Result: Multiple dates per week with genuinely attractive women

Case Study 3: Nick – 50-Year-Old Divorced Man 570s

- Background: Real estate investor, owned properties, long marriage left him completely out of the dating game
 - Older, hyper-logical, couldn't relate emotionally to younger women
- What Denny Ops did:
 - AI pictures to build a visual funnel

- Intensive coaching: playbooks, specific strategies, multiple calls per week
- Active pushing and accountability
- Hurdles encountered during coaching (Deni is candid that it wasn't smooth):
 - Escalation paralysis — ended up outside a girl's house or she outside his, didn't know how to move things forward
 - Physical escalation issues in general
 - Venue mistakes — took a girl to a comedy show (Deni compares this to his own fancy restaurant mistake; both are low-energy, low-fun choices that kill sexual tension)
 - Mindset problem — making excuses that girls weren't attractive enough, partly as a defense mechanism; team helped him recognize this was projection and confusion, not reality
- Result:
 - 3–5 dates per week booked on a managed schedule
 - 1,500 Tinder likes

Case Study 4: Finley – Blunt Texter with Autism 681s

- Background: Diagnosed with autism-spectrum traits; was sending extremely blunt, repetitive messages
 - Example messages: "Do you want to f*ck?" / "Do you want to meet up?" sent repeatedly
 - Got occasional matches by volume but highly inefficient; profile was otherwise workable
- Key difference from other cases: Finley had time — he just didn't know what to do with it
- What Denny Ops did:
 - AI pictures
 - Profile optimization
 - Coached him on texting strategy via playbooks and calls
 - Taught him to make his own AI pictures going forward (clients can learn the skill, not just receive it as a service)
- Before results: 25 likes over a couple of weeks on his own
- After results:
 - 50+ Hinge likes in 2–3 days
 - 109 Bumble likes
 - Deni calls his final profile "the show of true art" as a benchmark for what an optimized profile looks like

Closing Pitch and Resources 774s

- Deni frames the video as a transparent sharing of his own struggles, not a polished sales pitch
- Target audience explicitly called out: professionals and business owners who want to "get back out there"
- Resources mentioned:
 - Two additional videos on the channel covering a man in his 40s and another struggling case

- A ~1-hour "full breakthrough" video described as one of the best on the channel, showing the full client process
- Denny Ops as a service (profile building, AI photos, texting management, coaching, playbooks)
- Services offered span a range: full done-for-you (texting management, photos) through to teaching clients to do it themselves (AI photo creation)