

You still have time to accomplish your 2026 goals

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Sep 21, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/l9KHDCm_UE8 Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

Brandon Carter shares five books he credits with helping him become both rich and successful — covering courage, advertising psychology, focus, time buyback, and subconscious mindset — plus a personal honorable mention.

Contents

- 🎯 Framing: Rich vs. Successful
- 📖 Book 1: Courage by Osho
- 📖 Book 2: Cashvertising by Eric Whitman
- 📖 Book 3: The One Thing by Gary Keller
- 📖 Book 4: Buy Back Your Time by Dan Martell
- 📖 Book 5: The Creative Mind and Success by Ernest Holmes
- 🏆 Honorable Mention: Brandon Carter's Own Book

Framing: Rich vs. Successful 0:00

- Brandon distinguishes between being rich and being successful — he wants both
 - Knows people who are rich but not successful: kids hate them, wives cheating on them
 - Knows people who are successful but not rich — cites new NBA players as an example
- These five books are specifically chosen for people who want BOTH outcomes
- Teases that the last book is the most powerful and least known

Book 1: Courage by Osho 0:22

- Author: Osho, a spiritual leader from the 1980s who famously owned 93 Rolls-Royces
- Core message: the only way to have real freedom is to abandon fear and fully embrace uncertainty
 - Reasoning: only by doing so can you be your true, authentic self

Book 2: Cashvertising by Eric Whitman 0:22

- Focuses on understanding human psychology and how to leverage it in advertising
 - Goal: make ads convert better by working with how people actually think and feel

Book 3: The One Thing by Gary Keller 0:45

- Core argument: extraordinary success can only come from relentlessly focusing on the single most important thing
- Practical recommendation from the book: once you identify that one thing, spend 4 hours every day on it
- Brandon notes this helped him tremendously during his come-up

Book 4: Buy Back Your Time by Dan Martell 1:08

- Author Dan Martell is described as Brandon's "big homie"
- Central concept: if your time is worth over $100,000 an hour, it makes more economic sense to pay someone $50 an hour to clean your home so you can work instead
 - Net result: you'd make $50 more per hour than you spent — a clear economic win
- Brandon says he was mocked for years for promoting this same idea before Dan's book popularized it
 - People called him lazy when he said it; when Dan said it, everyone loved it
 - Brandon's self-deprecating takeaway: "Maybe I'm just the wrong messenger."

Book 5: The Creative Mind and Success by Ernest Holmes 1:31

- Brandon's most-read book — visibly worn from heavy use
- Core message: aligning your subconscious mind with success
- Not a one-time read — Brandon had to read it "over and over and over again until I was rich" and still returns to it
- Personal story: he read it every day on the F train at 4:00 in the morning while working 12–14 hours a day during the recession of 2008

"I don't know where I'd be without this book."

Honorable Mention: Brandon Carter's Own Book 1:55

- Title: The 7-Day AI Action Plan for Online Trainers
- Claims to have sold/distributed it to over 15,000 people teaching them to grow successful online fitness businesses
- Credits this with how he made his first million as an online trainer
- Promise: gives a game plan to start an online training business within 7 days
- Call to action: comment the word "action" and he'll send it directly to you