She Didn't Know Claude Could Edit Her Videos

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Oct 28, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/3UQXP7EN1rA Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

A comedic short skit where one partner tells the other that Claude or ChatGPT can edit videos automatically with impressive effects — then reveals the setup is actually quite involved.

📑 Contents

- 🎬 The Setup: Video Editing Discovery
- 🛠️ The "Easy" Setup Process

🎬 The Setup: Video Editing Discovery 0:02

- One person is manually editing videos when their partner asks why they aren't using AI to do it
- The partner demonstrates several visual effects allegedly achievable through Claude or ChatGPT
  - Effect examples are shown on screen to illustrate the capability
  - The reaction: "Look how cool that is"
- The editor admits they don't know how to do it
- The partner responds: "Hey yo, it's easy, baby"
  - The humor of the skit hinges on the fact that the steps described are not actually easy

🛠️ The "Easy" Setup Process 0:27

- The described steps for getting AI to edit your videos:
  - Download the Claude or ChatGPT desktop app
  - Install three GitHub repos (noted as free)
  - Go to ElevenLabs and obtain an API key
  - Install that API key into Claude or ChatGPT
  - Provide Claude or ChatGPT with example videos that represent the style you want
  - Dump your raw footage into the tool
  - Prompt it: "Edit it just like that"
- The video cuts off mid-sentence before the conclusion, ending on "Next thing you know, you going to give birth to a new..."
  - The abrupt ending is part of the comedic format of the short

- The overall tone is humorous — framing a multi-step technical process as trivially simple for a partner who has no prior experience with it