Executive Summary

ZssBecker argues that expecting happiness is why people fail to grow, and that real growth is inherently painful and uncomfortable — you have to embrace the struggle rather than avoid it.

The reason you fail to grow & win at life is that you also expect to be happy.

Here's what you should expect: it sucks wet ass.

But looking the wet ass in the eye is your best bet.

Growth by default is a horrible experience. If you're pushing yourself... I'm sorry, you're <https://x.com/ZssBecker/status/2100286644548956528/photo/1>
