How I Got Good at Sales

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Nov 05, 2026 · Watch: https://www.youtube.com/shorts/Wl3_N-HxK7o Source: full transcript

📋 Executive Summary

In 2019, Brandon Carter combined 10 sales calls a day with round-the-clock sales audiobook listening — a method he calls "total immersion" — to skyrocket his closing rate to 80%.

📑 Contents

- 🔥 The Problem That Sparked the Strategy
- 🎧 The Total Immersion Strategy Explained
- 🧠 Why It Works: Learning + Same-Day Implementation
- 📈 The Results

🔥 The Problem That Sparked the Strategy 0:00

- In 2019, Brandon needed to make a large amount of money quickly
  - This urgency forced him to get serious and deliberate about improving his sales skills fast
- He committed to doing 10 sales calls per day as his core activity

🎧 The Total Immersion Strategy Explained 0:00

- He calls his approach the "total immersion strategy"
- The rule: if he was not on a call or asleep, he was listening to a sales audiobook
  - He bought three pairs of waterproof headphones so he could listen anywhere, including the shower
- His daily listening schedule covered every waking moment:
  - Woke up → immediately started listening in the shower
  - Getting dressed → listening to sales content
  - Going to the gym → listening to sales content
  - Eating breakfast → listening to sales content
  - Every gap between calls → listening to sales content

🧠 Why It Works: Learning + Same-Day Implementation 0:21

- The key insight is the combination of constant learning AND immediate real-world use
  - Learning something and never using it means you forget it

    - Learning something and then implementing it that same day means you retain it far better
    - It also drives the knowledge into the subconscious mind, making it instinctive rather than deliberate
- "It became — it was in me."
- Two factors drove the skill jump:
    - The reps — 10 live calls every single day
    - The training — audiobooks running all day, every day

📈 The Results 0:44

- His closing rate reached 80% — a figure he acknowledges sounds almost unbelievable
- He describes his sales skills jumping to "a whole new level"
- The takeaway is that volume of practice alone isn't enough — pairing reps with continuous immersive study is what produced the dramatic improvement