

You should start taking THIS every day to build more muscle

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Jul 05, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/TWWbAhUsvRo> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

Brandon Carter recommends daily Cialis (tadalafil) for men trying to build muscle, citing clinical trials supporting its muscle-building effects, and notes it also significantly enhances sexual performance even without ED.

Contents

-  Cialis vs. Viagra for Muscle Building
-  Clinical Evidence and Personal Use
-  Benefits Beyond the Gym

Cialis vs. Viagra for Muscle Building 0:00

- Carter's core claim: men trying to build muscle should take Cialis (tadalafil) every day
 - Multiple studies show both Cialis and Viagra (sildenafil) help build muscle
 - Key differentiator: Cialis works all day, while Viagra only has a short effective window
 - This makes Cialis the more practical daily-use option for muscle-building purposes

Clinical Evidence and Personal Use 0:00

- "There's actually a lot of clinical trials that show Cialis helps build muscle"
 - Recommendation extends to men without erectile dysfunction (ED) — the muscle benefit alone is cited as sufficient reason
- Carter's personal usage: daily Cialis for 10 years

Benefits Beyond the Gym 0:23

- For men without ED, taking Cialis daily also elevates sexual performance
 - Carter's characterization: "it'll take you from regular man to superman"
- He frames it as a dual-purpose supplement: muscle building + enhanced bedroom performance