🔥 Mistakes Are Inevitable — But Not Fatal 0:00

- Everyone makes serious mistakes during their business journey
  - A mistake only becomes truly catastrophic if it wipes you out entirely
  - If it doesn't end you, it is a lesson and potentially a step toward reinforcement

🏪 Being Dropped by Retailers 0:05

- Greg was removed from multiple retail stores
  - The reason: his products could not reach the required sales velocity threshold to justify keeping shelf space in those stores
  - This is a common but painful setback for consumer product businesses

🏗️ Reinforcing the Business Through Diversification 0:15

- The experience led directly to a strategic reinforcement: reducing dependency on any single retailer
  - The business now operates across 60,000 retail outlets
  - With that scale, a problem at one outlet is manageable — there are still 59,000 others
- Core takeaway: continuously use problems as triggers to reinforce your business so the same problem cannot recur
  - Each failure becomes a structural improvement, not just a lesson on paper
