

Stop sending out boring ebooks

Channel: Brandon Carter · Published: Jul 31, 2026 · Watch: <https://www.youtube.com/shorts/GQH7auJIS40> Source: full transcript

Executive Summary

Brandon Carter demos Go High Level's new AI builder to create a quiz funnel in minutes, arguing interactive tools beat ebooks as lead magnets because they deliver instant, personalized answers without requiring the prospect to read anything.

Contents

-  Go High Level's New AI Builder
-  Building a Quiz Funnel by Chat
-  Why Quiz Funnels Beat Ebooks
-  The Call-Booking Payoff

Go High Level's New AI Builder 0:00

- Go High Level recently released a feature comparable to Lovable — an AI that builds custom websites or apps through conversation
 - No coding or design work required; you just describe what you want
- Feature is included in Go High Level (no extra cost mentioned)

Building a Quiz Funnel by Chat 0:23

- Brandon described his goal to the AI in plain language:
 - "I want to set up a quizunnel for my business. I want to ask people what their goals are right now, and depending on how they answer, I want them to get different results."
- The AI asked clarifying questions, including preferred colors
 - Brandon said "Miami Heat colors" and the AI ran with it
- He iterated on images through conversation — changed them twice until satisfied
- The resulting quiz flow:
 - Question 1: "What's your primary goal?" (e.g., lose weight / burn fat)
 - Question 2: Experience level — complete beginner, intermediate, or advanced
 - User enters their info
 - They receive a personalized result page showing what they need to do to accomplish their goal
 - A video from Brandon appears: "Hey, if you need some more help with that..."

- A call-booking option is presented

Why Quiz Funnels Beat Ebooks 1:09

- Two core advantages over a free guide or ebook:
 - Higher perceived value — an interactive tool feels more premium than a PDF
 - Instant reward — users get their personalized answer immediately without reading anything
- The ebook problem: "Most people ain't going to read your book"
 - People have to invest time and effort to get any value
- The tool advantage: users go through the quiz with minimal effort and get an instant dopamine rush
 - Answers are delivered immediately "without having to read some [stuff] or study some [stuff]"

"If you send somebody a tool that they can use, people will go through that... they get their answers immediately without having to do anything."

The Call-Booking Payoff 1:31

- Because prospects have already consumed the personalized result and still want more help, the call-booking step converts naturally
 - The logic: they got their info but "ain't going to do the [work]", so they're primed to book a call
- Brandon frames this as the future of lead magnet strategy, noting he already sees it working
- The entire funnel — AI builder included — is part of Go High Level's existing plan